

Merimbula Star-hair seed collection event

Join staff from Department of Planning, Industry and Environment, Australian National Botanic Gardens and Council to help conserve the endangered plant Merimbula Star-hair.

Help collect seed to propagate one of Tura's most significant plants and enjoy a free lunch!

When: Saturday 14th December, 9am till 12

Where: Tura Beach Country Club

Bring: Hat, sun cream, water, sturdy footwear suitable for walking in the bush. (Lunch provided)

Brief presentations including:

- Tom North from the Australian National Botanic Gardens on the importance of seed collection and banking for threatened flora conservation
- Laura Canackle, Saving our Species Project Officer with NSW Department of Planning, Industry and Environment, on Merimbula Star-Hair ecology and conservation
- Andrew Morrison, BVSC Environmental Officer on local actions to conserve the Merimbula Star-hair

RSVP, including dietary requirements, to Laura Canackle (Laura.Canackle@environment.nsw.gov.au) by 11 December 2019.

SAVING OUR SPECIES

atlas of life

